

Jamie Kates, MHA, CPCS

Jamie Kates has fifteen years of experience in the healthcare and credentialing field. Jamie's career has included positions in hospital administration, medical staff office, and credentialing verification organizations. Jamie is currently the Senior Manager of Compliance at andros.

At andros, Jamie is responsible for ensuring organizational compliance internally, and externally for our clients. Internally, she works cross-functionally with product, engineering, operations, and other key teams within the company. Jamie additionally works directly with clients helping with the development and maintenance of policies and procedures, as well as by performing delegated audits of downstream partners.

Jamie is additionally a National Association of Medical Staff Services member and previously held the position of Member-at-Large of the New York State Association Medical Staff Services (NYSAMSS).

Jamie earned a Master's in Healthcare Administration from Hofstra University and has been certified as a Certified Provider Credentialing Specialist (CPCS) since 2020.